

FIRE IN SUNSHINE

Footballer's Shed Destroyed

On Saturday evening shortly after eight o'clock an alarm of fire was raised and the fire bell clanged ominously. Residents of the township failed to diagnose the situation, and judging by the amount of flame and smoke they concluded it to be important business places if not "the works" itself. Consequently, there was a helter-skelter rush from all quarters of the compass towards the illumination. However, within a few minutes of the alarm being sounded, the conflagration fizzled out and looked to be a dud of the first water as far as fires went. Arriving at the scene of the fire it was ascertained to be the football dressing shed erected some time ago in the cricket ground. It was entirely destroyed. It would cost about £10 to replace the building, which is a necessity now that Sunshine has joined the Victorian Junior Football Association. The cricketers lost material valued at £32. Probably the fire was caused by an unextinguished cigarette being dropped on the coconut matting. The property was uninsured. Sunshine, Footscray and
